Discover the Next Generation of dog owners

JOERI VAN DEN BERGH

Generations Y & Z (the under 40s) - describing themselves as 'pet parents' - are the first generation born and bred in the digital era! The pandemic has not only increased their need for an extra companion at home, but it also dramatically changed their lives. How did they adapt their search for happiness? Discover how this next generation of dog owners is recalibrating its expectations.

Be where they are

RÉMY OUDGHIRI

New generations are more and more skeptical about institutions or traditional ways of seeking for information. Why do they trust higher influencers? Who are these influencers? How could you become the expert influencers of your breed? Let's be equipped to optimize your social media profile, understand your audience and engage with them by creating and posting relevant and expert contents.

Put sparkles in their eyes

PHILIPPE BLOCH

A great physical experience is personalized, seamless, relevant and most importantly memorable. This is what pet parents are expecting when visiting you as pet professionals. How to make it a unique opportunity to showcase your expertise? How to use the moment of collection to give pet parents tips and values to be sure the puppy you're entrusting to them will find the best welcome in his new home?
